Dear families,

SLA continues to closely monitor all city agencies, along with the CDC and WHO, for recommendations and guidance on COVID-19. We have SLA-specific emergency plans and protocols in place to help us be as prepared as possible for any necessary next steps.

Gov. Andrew Cuomo announced Monday that any school with a staff member or student who tests positive for the coronavirus will close for at least 24 hours, though no public schools in New York City have been closed as of Tuesday morning.

Please support our community by following these recommendations:

- If you have had known possible COVID-19 exposure (at a conference, in an affected area of the world, in your workplace or school, etc), notify us immediately by emailing parentcoordinator@slaschool.org AND operations@slaschool.org.
- If you or your child has a cold or is otherwise under the weather, stay home. If you believe you have symptoms of COVID-19, contact a healthcare provider or call 311 (and inform us as soon as possible).

In addition to the procedures and precautions mentioned in previous emails, SLA is also:

- asking students and staff to continue to frequently wash hands, including before meals, snacks, between activities, and during after-school care.
- rolling out an emergency call/text system which SLA will use to communicate with parents in the event of school closure or emergency situation.

As always, don't hesitate to get in touch with any questions!

MAYOR DE BLASIO PROVIDES UPDATES ON NEW YORK CITY'S COVID-19 RESPONSE

New Yorkers should text COVID to 692-692 to get regular updates on the latest developments regarding COVID-19

NEW YORK—Mayor Bill de Blasio today issued additional guidance regarding COVID-19. A new case of COVID-19 was confirmed in the Bronx today, bringing the citywide total to 13.

"As we continue to see community transmission between people who have no direct connection to travel to one of the affected countries, we are asking New Yorkers to adjust their routines to stem the spread of the virus where they can," said Mayor Bill de Blasio. "I cannot reiterate enough that if you feel sick, stay home; we need every New Yorker to do their part to keep their neighbors safe."

Protecting Yourself and Others

To reduce overcrowding, the City is advising private-sector employers and employees to consider telecommuting where possible and to consider staggered start times for workers. Those who take the subways at rush hour should consider commuting to work via alternative modes of transportation, like biking or walking, if possible.

Special Guidance for Vulnerable New Yorkers

The City is advising those with chronic lung disease, heart disease, cancer, diabetes, or a weakened immune system to avoid unnecessary events and gatherings. If you have family or friends who have one of these conditions, do not visit them if you feel sick.

Those with a history of smoking and vaping are more likely to experience serious illness related to COVID-19. For help quitting, call 866-NY-QUITS.

The City has ordered local government workers to cancel all non-essential international travel, effective immediately.

Keeping Kids Safe in Schools

The City will hire an additional 85 school nurses to ensure every district school building has a full-time nurse by the end of the week. All international school trips have been cancelled for the remainder of the school year. After sending a survey to nonpublic schools to help identify shortage of paper towels, soap, hand sanitizers, and medical supplies, the Department of Education will distribute materials to any school experiencing shortages.

Guidance for Doctors and Medical Providers

With private lab testing now available, the Health Department is sending guidance to providers to test patients with respiratory illnesses who have been admitted to the hospital but are not in the ICU. For non-hospitalized patients with fever and either cough or shortness of breath, priority will be given to patients 50 years and older or individuals of any age who have chronic conditions, such as cancer, heart disease, diabetes, weakened immune systems, or chronic lung disease. Those with COVID-19 symptoms and underlying chronic conditions are at greater risk for serious illness if they contract the virus.

Supporting Small Businesses

The City will provide relief for small businesses across the City seeing a reduction in revenue because of COVID-19. Businesses with fewer than 100 employees who have seen sales decreases of 25% or more will be eligible for zero interest loans of up to $75,000 to help mitigate losses in profit. The City is also offering small businesses with fewer than 5 employees a grant to cover 40% of payroll costs for two months (an average of $6,000) to help retain employees. Eligible owners who would like to learn more about these programs should call 311 for assistance.

New Yorkers should continue to exercise basic precautions while going about their lives: wash your hands, use alcohol-based hand sanitizer, and cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing. Starting Monday, the City is expanding its public health advertising campaign to ensure New Yorkers have the facts and resources they need to protect themselves from COVID-19.

If you have any questions on finding medical care call 311. To get regular updates on the latest developments with coronavirus in New York City text
